

New Golf Course Takes Flight at TwinEagles in Naples.

The most anxiously awaited project in the revitalization of the TwinEagles golf community is underway. The Ronto Group is making rapid strides in the construction of their completely re-designed and re-named second golf course, The Eagle. One of the few new courses under construction in the country, The Eagle was designed by Steve Smyers and Patrick Andrews, the team behind several acclaimed courses, including Isleworth in Windermere. “When The Eagle Course is completed, TwinEagles will provide the finest golf experience in southwest Florida,” said Dick McPhail, General Manager, “Combined with The Talon, designed by Jack Nicklaus and his son Jack Nicklaus II, and the Doc Suttie Golf Academy, TwinEagles will be the premier place to live – for those who live to play golf.”

“We wanted to create a remarkable experience on this course,” said Smyers, who followed examples set by the ‘Golden Age’ of golf course architecture to create a course that is all about strategy and the challenge of risk/reward shots. The design will force decision-making scenarios and reward precise shot-making. “The amazing thing about this course is that the elevation changes have created a northern feel on a southern golf course,” said Scott Newhouse, Director of Golf at TwinEagles. “The 9th hole is one of the neatest looking second shots into a par 4 that I’ve ever seen in the state of Florida,” he added. Imaginatively shaped greens, one of which is over 15,000 square feet, will add to the allure of the new course. The best feature of this design philosophy is that it provides a different experience for golfers each time the course is played. “When The Eagle Course opens in November, we will have two PGA Tour-ready golf courses – and we are actively seeking tournaments to host,” said Newhouse.

Residents of TwinEagles are also excited about all the new enhancements to their community. “The Ronto team’s improvements throughout the community have exceeded our expectations,” said TwinEagles resident Bernie Madej, “as long-term homeowners, my wife and I are extremely happy with the additions – especially the new golf course. We can’t wait to play it!”

The TwinEagles community and its golf courses are framed by sweeping natural beauty, lush water features and abundant wildlife that is southwest Florida at its finest. With the undisputed prominence of The Talon Course course, superb practice and training facilities, and the opening of The Eagle Course, TwinEagles will far surpass all other Naples communities as the pre-eminent golf experience. Best of all, membership in this golfing paradise is included in the cost of each home – and that experience will be preserved for decades because of the limited number of 300 memberships per 18 holes of exhilarating golf. For those who love the game of golf and appreciate the challenges of two championship courses, there is no community that compares to TwinEagles. Now, with the addition of thoughtfully designed, attractively priced new homes and expansive community enhancements, there is no better place to live than TwinEagles.
